My heart is saddened as i just found out about Lynnel's passing yesterday. My deepest condolences to her whole family. I was blessed to be a part of her life, growing up together from Elementary through High School and well after that. I remember as kids hanging at her house with her dog Poochi and her pet rat, Tonka. LOL, I'm thankful that some of our little group of friends got to get together a few years ago. Just great memories! She was just a beautiful soul! Rest In Peace my beautiful friend, Love you always ðŸ’œMynda

Lynnel and I have known each for 48-years. We had our first son one day apart and our second son one month apart. The idea of a life without her is confusing and heartbreaking. One of my favorite things about her strength through battling cancer was how she made a point to check on you, tell you that she loved you and the good things she thought about you. I pray she knew how much I loved her and how important she was to me. Instead of a teary emotional goodbye, she left behind her strength, laughter and memories. While I can find some comfort in my memories of her, it doesnâ€™t make me miss her any less. Iâ€™ll definitely miss her laugh. She had a great laugh. The sadness I feel when I think of her will never disappear, and I will never stop missing her, but I donâ€™t feel empty in any way. Forty-eight ago, our small group of friends grew side by side. Our roots will always be tangled and for that, I am very glad. Rest In Peace, Lynnel. Iâ€™ll miss and love you always.
