Thank you for everything Uncle Richard, you are a blessing to everyone. When I was in Philippines, Auntie Trining and Uncle would ship a "balik-bayan" box every year. They would give us a lot of canned foods, clothes and some miscellaneous. Uncle Eddie and others would separate it fairly so everyone could get some but there's some extra good for a game or raffle and it's pretty fun. Sometimes Uncle Richard cooked some of his hamburger. May your soul rest in peace, We love you Uncle Richard

Â He always inspires us to see the good in every man and always do good to others. I remember one time when he saw a bunch of aetas (group of indigenous people in the streets of Balanga City, Bataan, Philippines) after seeing them he bought roasted chicken for them to have supper. Together with his wife, Tita Trini, they also offered scholarship to another group of Aetas in mountains of Mariveles, Bataan. The deeds that you won't expect from a foreigner, but together with Tita Trini they did it because they have a good kind heart and he has heart for the Filipino people. Sharing his blessing to others wasn't a hard thing for him, I must say it's his nature. We are blessed that he was part of our family, we will terribly missed his stories, his jokes and of course his dishes. And He was a better teacher to any of my history professors, telling me how the Filipino and the Americans defend the Philippines during WWII and giving us free tours to the land marks that were not mention to textbooks. We will missed those. Every palakas (frog in english/ what they call our family in the Philippines) was helped by Tita Trini and Uncle Richard, and we really appreciate this. It is pain in our heart that he left us, but we know that he is good place with our creator. Giving us a smile from above.Â - Dalisay, Jun, Joanne and Justine Paguio
