My father was a God loving God serving, God-fearing man. God blessed my dad with wisdom... Wisdom that I have never encountered before. He was a perfectionist in everything he did, even if it meant that it took him longer to get something done, so be it. He was a loving, loyal, strong, protective, and gift giving husband to his wife Diana and father to his daughters Patricia Waialae (Russell), Kellie Awong (Kaleiko'iahi) and Natascha - Lee Komomua (Joseph) and son-in-laws' My father loved his grandchildren and great-grandchildren so much that he would go above and beyond for them. To see us happy gave him so much joy. He would tell you about his unperfect past in hopes that you would learn from his bad choices. and then very eagerly follow up with telling them the best choice he ever made in his life, which was accepting Jesus as his Lord and Savior. He loved to share with people how Jesus changed him. My father truly was a new man through Christ Jesus. My father David was not afraid to work hard. He was not ashamed to share the gospel, and he was definitely the definition of what a man should be. I look forward to being reunited with my father, eating some poi, raw fish, and listening to some Hawaiian music all while listening to his stories. We love and miss you Daddy! Love, Kellie
